

Gianni Cicogna (born October 18, 1969 Casale Monferrato, Alessandria/ Piemonte) is an Italian Bass guitar player. He began studying and playing the electric bass guitar already at a very young age, followed by seminars and refresher courses to learn and improve his knowledge of the modern techniques of the bass guitar, like slap and tapping, various styles of accompaniment, solos and improvisation.

He completed hundreds of concerts and continuous and intermittent collaborations with national and international artists, for example: band member for Lucio Fabbri for the popular television program X Factor (Italia), Noemi, AmbraMarie, Marco Mengoni, Matteo Becucci, Morgan, Shell Shapiro, Garbo, Ricky Portera, Maurizio Solieri, Kiko Loureiro (Guitar player of Angra), Exilia, Gabriele Fersini (Guitar player of Laura Pausini and Biagio Antonacci) Jgor Gianola and many more.

Since almost ten years he writes articles and transcripts for the famous magazine "Guitar club". He works as a bass guitar teacher in different Music Schools in Northern Italy. In the past he also worked as a demonstrator for Ibanez Basses and Warwick, at present for endorsers Gallien Krueger amps and MTD Basses.

In 2009 he released his first record for the label Raitrade/Videoradio with his project "Groovydo", a collaboration with longtime partner and friend Sergio Pescara, a well known italian drummer, with whom he shares a long series of collaborations and concert promotions. In 2015 it has been released their second album, produced by Tom Fletcher, with special guest like Billy Sheehan, Derek Sherinian Kiko Loureiro and many others. They were also on tour for the promotion of the album of Pino Scotto called Codici Kappaò, a well know italian Hard Rock singer. Immediately after even touring with Andrew Basso, the world champion of Excapology and also writing the music dedicated to this event, which was included on the third album of Groovydo called "The Escape" released in 2019.

In the same period Gianni participated in the "Pret a Porter Music" project as composer, for the music of their album which was released in 2020, and has since been used in the context of fashion shows.